→ TomTom Go Live

In-car satnav systems appear to be improving with every generation and TomTom's current Go Live units add in even more functionality. NZCC's erstwhile Editor is now on his third TomTom unit and is currently enjoying the benefits of this Go Live 820. As well as it's easy-to-operate interface, fully integrated mount and Bluetooth hands-free calling, this unit includes TomTom's HD Traffic – a really useful feature which has the ability to redirect users around major roadwork's or traffic snarl-ups. His Editorship even fires up the TomTom for regular trips into Auckland and, on several occasions, HD Live has safely redirected him around traffic delays – making sure that he arrives on time, every time. The Go Live 820's advanced lane guidance is also a great feature for those unsure of where to go when faced with a major motorway intersection – and, with Auckland's roading system continually being changed, TomTom's regular map updates (an easy download from the TomTom website) enable users to keep their units current.
